Sophia R. Brandenburg focuses her practice on all types of business transactions as well as residential and commercial real estate matters. She leverages her background in business by analyzing legal issues through the lens of an attorney as well as a business-minded professional in order to identify, prevent and solve possible issues from every angle.

Before earning her J.D., Sophia studied business administration while working with various organizations in client-facing roles, honing her ability to effectively and efficiently address client wants and needs. During law school, she focused her studies on practical coursework that developed her drafting and negotiation skills. In addition to her coursework, she worked with various firms in which she gained extensive experience in document review, drafting, and legal research.

As an extroverted and zealous advocate, Sophia is committed to working with businesses and individuals to prevent and overcome legal issues so that their objectives remain protected, while effectively communicating with her clients every step of the way.
